Elegant Lithographed Portraits

—OF—

BLAINE AND LOGAN,

The Republican Nominees for President and Vice-President.

to be voted for at the coming National Election.

The size of this picture is 22x28 inches, lithographed in elegant style, on 80 lb tint paper, and contains small portraits of our martyr Presidents, LINCOLN and GARFIELD, also a portrait of WASHINGTON, with appropriate emblems representing PEACE, PLENTY and PROSPERITY.

No expense has been spared in making this picture an artistic piece of work, and at the low price we quote, we predict a large sale during the next five months. It will be eagerly sought for by campaign clubs and other political organizations.

We also intend to publish a similar picture of the DEMOCRATIC nominees in July, and solicit your orders now at the same scale of prices.

This elegant style of lithograph portraits have never before been sold at retail for less than $1.00 each, but in order to give these pictures an IMMENSE SALE during the campaign, we have decided to mark the price down to 40 Cents Each.

Tom Coffin, who recently surprised the town of Winthrop by selling out his property and going to Minnesota, was a runaway boy from Winthrop, Me., a few years ago. About a year ago he returned with "loads of money," bought one of the largest and best houses in his native village, and has since been scattering his wealth with a lavish hand.

The Kennebec Journal thinks it a little singular that a man should be killed at Oakland, Monday, by the bursting of a grindstone, while there was a case on trial in court, suit being brought for damages where another man had been killed in the same town a little over a year previously. In the case referred to we learn a verdict for $500 was given the plaintiff.

The board of managers of the Maine Industrial School for Girls, at Hallowell, held a meeting, Thursday, at the school building, and decided to erect another building, substantially the same in style and size, of the present one, at a cost of ten or eleven thousand dollars. Six thousand dollars of this amount has already been raised, and the managers propose to rely upon the State and friends to make up the balance. The next Legislature will be asked to aid this School, which is as well worthy of assistance as any institution in our State.

Elihu Lawrence of Fairfield had his entire breeding flock, of choice Merinos destroyed by dogs, one night recently. Out of the nineteen sheep and ten lambs, all but two sheep and five lambs were dead or dying when found. The dogs, two in number, belonged to China Blair, of Waterville, and were found in the pasture. Mr. Lawrence's flock was a very valuable one, the result of years of selecting and careful breeding mostly thoroughbreds, some of which were purchased in Vermont at high prices. He estimates his loss between $400 and $600.

Hon. Wm. There is work enough to do, and we intend to win a victory, grand enough for all to have a glorious share. The convention settled all differences, buried all rivalries, and from now till November the highest ambition of each member of the Republican party will be to help in every possible way to swell the majority that the Republican banner, Blaine and Logan.

The Committee on Notification.

The committee appointed at the Republican National Convention to officially notify Hon. James G. Blaine of his nomination left Augusta on a special train for Portland, Saturday afternoon. The run was made in two hours and ten minutes. While on the road the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of the delegation are due and hereby tendered to the Republican State Committee of Maine for the courtesy and liberal hospitalities extended and to the citizens of Augusta for their open hospitalities.

Resolved, That the thanks of this committee are and hereby tendered to the Eastern and the Maine Central Railroads and to Josiah Crosby, General Manager the Boston, Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad, and to Passenger Agent Tucker for the great kindness of especial cars from Boston to Augusta and return and for the many other courtesies we have enjoyed at their hands on this occasion.

Guards of the Portland City Veterans were taken in charge by the receiving committee and during the night hours they were given a ride on the harbor. In the evening there was a public meeting in City Hall which contained a large audience and was addressed by Hon. T. B. Reed, president and open at the meeting with a characteristic speech. He was followed by Hon. John R. Lynch of Mississippi, Hon. John B. Henderson, of Missouri, Hon. Malcolm Crow, of Pennsylvania, Hon. George B. Davis, of Illinois, Judge Houck, of Tennessee, Hon. Channcey I. Filley, of Missouri, and Judge Forraker, of Ohio. The remarks of the different speakers were attentively listened to and frequently called forth vigorous applause. The visitors went to Boston in a special train and left after the meeting.

An Important Declaration

[Boston Journal.]

Last March, J. W. Randolph, one of the delegates to the Republican National Convention from the Harrisburg district of Pennsylvania, wrote a letter to George William Curtis in regard to the Republican candidate, which reached the Independents on the 14th inst., and was made public on the 19th inst. In this letter Mr. Randolph says:

"The full pendulum of New York will [illegible] the change of power [illegible] Mr. Blaine could be [illegible] for the Presidency. If elected, it were a compliment to the whole country to have such a representative as Mr. Blaine. He is [illegible] Pennsylvania and New York. At the time of the sale Governor Sprague and son sold an armed guard held forcible possession of the premises, and made such [illegible] demonstrations that the auctioneer and others deemed it prudent to stay outside the gate and complete the sale. The case was argued on the bench to-day by A D Paine, for Moulton, and C F Parkhurst, Jr, for Mr. Chaffee, and A A Hamilton for Wm Sprague.

FORTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS—First Session.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, June 23 Mr Hale offered a resolution directing the Committee on Expenditures of Public Money to investigate the recent declarations of disbursing officers in some of the departments in Washington and the alleged frauds on the Navy Department; and to inquire into the system of making disbursements and purchases of supplies, with a view of determining whether it embraces sufficient safeguards against defalcations and frauds and giving the committee power to send for persons and papers.

Mr Morgan asked why the resolution was limited to "some of the departments"

Mr Hale said that there had been defalcations in some of the departments and he had not wished to particularize

Mr Morgan hoped it would be made to cover the Post Office Department.

Mr Hale replied that he had in mind the Post Office, State and Navy Departments His object had been to include matters that had lately come before the public eye through the press

Mr McPherson asked why not cover the methods of keeping accounts in all the departments.

Mr Hale said that he meant to include that In fact he thought that the chief work of the committee would be to elaborate and perfect a system by which the Treasury may be thoroughly protected The expenditures should be scrutinized with a jealous eye and some plan of account keeping should be adopted that would secure the most complete protection.

Mr Hale accepted the amendment offered by Mr. McPherson, to include all the departments.

Mr Ingalls said that there must be some radical defect in keeping the departmental accounts which permitted peculations to go on for years undiscovered If the resolution was not broad enough in terms to direct the committee to make their examinations minute, thoroughly comprehensive and searching in the last particular he hoped it would be so amended as to accomplish that object.

Mr Hale said that he intended to make it broad enough

The resolution was agreed to after being amended so as to cover the appointment of a clerk and stenographer when necessary.

Mr Garland from the Committee on Judiciary, reported and the Senate recalled the third time and passed a bill conferring on all Senators and members of Congress authority to administer oaths to witnesses in matters pending before Congress

The Pendleton amendment as amended was then adopted.

At the suggestion of Mr O Neill, of Missouri, a proviso that convict labor should not be employed in erecting the unfinished portion of the U S penitentiary at Deer Lodge, Montana Territory, were stricken from the bill.

A motion to suspend the rules and pass the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill was then agreed to—yeas 30 to 17

The Senate amendments of the Army Appropriation bill were non-concurred in and the House adjourned.

A School of Whales

NEW YORK June 23 The bark Wm Miller Capt Young, from Swansea reports on June 20 while in lat 41 40 lon 41 50 saw what was supposed to be a school of whales as there were spouts of water all around them. They were seen coming to the surface and blowing. They came in such close proximity to the vessel that officers could be heard from one ship to the other conversing in Portuguese and were within two feet of the vessel's sides. The whales were of large size and lying perfectly still for several minutes at a time, then rolled heavily over a distance and would then spout until they stood up again, when they would repeat the performance. The whales could be nearly estimated as they lay on the water. They swam around the vessel for about three hours and seemed to be holding a complete survey of her, and did not seem to be in the least shy. It was a magnificent sight and one seldom witnessed by mariners.

The largest were about 80 feet in length and square at the head. Several about three feet back were white in the form of a well built ship. The largest blow was not much above the water and resembled water thrown from a sprinkler. There was also all around the ship back and forth like a flock of sheep. The heads were about six feet in depth and the after part in proportion. Three whales about three lengths apart sprung up at the same time from the spot which it does not seem to be possible for any two points of the compass.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Affairs in Cuba.

HAVANA, June 23 The present heavy decline in the premium on gold is considered by the commercial community as not a calamity as was the gradual rise in the premium which was facilitated owing to six months ago. It is argued that the rise is at least a true indication of the bankrupt condition into which the commercial affairs had fallen, while the present sudden and heavy decline, at a period when business is at a standstill is but a fresh proof of the rotten condition of the financial affairs which follows a few moneyed men and those who are making a fortune out of the political affairs of Ireland as the representatives at Madrid to bring about a heavy decline in gold by the pass of more promises of reforms.

Meanwhile these speculators who bought large amounts of the currency when the premium on gold was at its highest are now reaping a rich harvest. It now appears from the news from Madrid that Cuban representatives will have to be satisfied with Cortes merely authorizing the ministry to introduce certain reforms in Cuba, thus leaving the real question of fixing the reforms by law still an open one and Cuba in the state of doubt and dismay.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

New Magazines.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for July, in its literature and its illustrations, is a mirror of the summer world. In its opening article we were transported to the Valley of the Nile. Dr. Trautvetter's description of the Nile Festival—the burden of his paper—is as picturesque as the effective illustrations contributed by Sir Frederick Leighton, the President of the Royal Academy. Dr. Moritz Busch takes us to Prince Bismarck's favorite haunts—his Pomeranian home, his country-seat in the heart of Lauenwald, and his beautiful park in Berlin. His paper is mainly occupied with personal sketches of the Prince, and is illustrated with a fine full-page portrait, the only photograph ever taken of Bismarck with his beard full-grown, and the forests of Germany. William Black, in His Judith Shakespeare, takes us to the summer fields of the Avoc, where with wrists her lover in the artistic outfit for Mr. Abbey's charming picture illustrating this part of the novel. Phillip Gilbert Hamerton's delightful poem, The Roses and the Nightingale, is a pleasant interlude between Stratford and Harrow. The Cricket-match at Lord's brings the London season to a close. The Illustrations for Mr. Hatton's Harrow-on-the-Hill are very picturesque. Then Mr. Black's sweet Nature's Serial Story, brings us up to the banks of the Hudson. Abbey's full-page picture, Washington Square, and Mr. Gibson's picture of The Last Load, also a full-page illustration with much of the charm that distinguishes Reassen's landscapes—make about the highest level yet attained in American drawing or engraving. The Summer Resorts of the St. Lawrence are beautifully described by Annie Howells Frothingham, and is beautifully illustrated by Harry Sandham. Alice Comyns Carr contributes an exceedingly interesting paper on The Professional Beauties of the Late Court, and the illustrations are from the paintings of Sir Joshua Reynolds, and the ministers of that period. The story of The Silent Schools of Kendall Green, illustrated by Sarka M. Brady, is very interesting, and is beautifully illustrated. The Progress to New York is another finely illustrated article. With the chapter on Hickory—Illustrated by full-page portraits of Andrew Jackson and Daniel Webster—Colonel Higginson concludes his interesting American History series. Timothy Keese contributes a timely article on Beef—from the Range to the Dumbles. There are good short stories by Frank R. Stockton and Mary E. Wilkins. An Honest Soul, by Julian Hawthorne, is an unusually strong piece of artistic fiction, in its sympathetic quality recalling one of Millet's best work in words. This number contains seventeen full-page engravings.

THE CENTURY contains a remarkable contribution to United States History—The Ku-Klux Klan, Its Origin, Growth, and Dissolution, by the Rev. D. L. Wilson, of Pulaski, Tenn., who vouches for the facts, most of which are new to the public, and will prove a revelation to all who consider themselves well-informed on all the outgrowths of the late conflict in the South. This paper also furnishes the text for the leading editorial, Topics of the Time. The frontispiece is an engraving from a full-length photograph of John Bright, accompanying a careful and discriminating estimate, by T. S. Escott, editor of The Fortnightly Review. Mr. Escott includes in his article several amusing and character-sketches of the great English radical. Glimpses of Hawthorne's Romances are described in a chatty way, with pertinent illustrations, by Julian Hawthorne, and they are charmingly illustrated by Harry Fenn, among the pictures being several of the Wayside, and The Old Manse. Mr. Fenn, as well as Francis Lathrop and others, also contributes to the Illustrations of Mrs. Schuyler van Rensselaer's good paper in her series on Recent Architecture in America, which this month includes, among other structures, the Metropolitan Opera House, and the Casino at Newport. A Greek Play at Cambridge, which is an interesting account of the production of the Ajax of Sophocles by the English University, written by D. Thorburn, contains several strong and careful drawings of characters and scenes. Kenyon Cox's The Cruise of the Alice May, by S. G. W. Benjamin, is completed. Cruising around Cape Breton, for which Burns makes the drawings.

ST. NICHOLAS for July is particularly rich in fiction. Stockton has one of his inimitable stories, The Reversible Landscape, an art of a kind that cannot be too high, and Miss Jolliffe Dowd's thrilling war-story of the New England cavalry; besides installments of G. W. Cable's Dr. Sevier, which reveals mutterings of the powder-train of rebellion, and the conclusion of Lady Jane, by Henry James, in which Constance Cary Harrison's Elopement Ex-Press Photographs of Andrew Jackson and Daniel Webster—Colonel Higginson concludes his interesting American History series. Timothy Keese contributes a timely article on Beef—from the Range to the Dumbles. There are good short stories by Frank R. Stockton and Mary E. Wilkins. NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW. The Impanelling Institution of trial by jury, which for centuries has been regarded as one of the most essential rights of the citizen, and one of the most effective barriers against absolute power, is itself on trial to-day, and is required to show cause why it should not be discarded and a more effectual method of administering justice substituted for it, or at least why it should not be reformed so as to yield more satisfactory results. Some suggestions for the improvement of the existing jury system, presented by Judge Robert C. Pitman in the North American Review, for July, under the title of Juries and Jurymen, should, in view of recent notorious miscarriages of justice, receive the serious consideration of every thoughtful citizen. American Economics, by Prof. Van Buren Denslow, is a lucid and forcible exposition of the grounds upon which the protection theory of national economy is based. Judge Noah Davis writes of Marriage and Divorce. Dr. J. Lewinder, whose subject is The Annexation of Canada, sets forth the advantages likely to accrue to the United States from the absorption of the Canadian provinces; Prof. D. McG. Means, in an argument against Government Telegraphy, subjects the management of the Post Office to a most searching criticism; Charles T. Congdon writes of Private Vengeance; and, finally, there is a symposium on the Future of the Negro, by Senator Z. B. Vance, Frederick Douglass, Joel Chandler Harris, Senator John T. Morgan, Prof. Richard T. Greener, Gen. S. C. Armstrong, Oliver Johnson and others.

THE ATLANTIC for July opens with a capital short story by W. H. Bishop. It is entitled Colby Sugan, and relates graphically a little coast adventures and love making, and its interest is much increased by the introduction of a Mormon girl. Dr. Mitchell's excellent serial In War Time progresses satisfactorily, and will be, when completed, an unusually good and readable novel. Mrs. B. D. H. Blanchard describes The Haunts of Galileo. The chief article is by Wm. C. Lawton, The Troy-world in Homer, Virgil, and Dante. O. H. Durward contributes a Sikh story, Beaten by a Glamour. Hamlet Wilkes Preston in The Gospel of Defeat, writes of Amiel, Sainte-Beuve (author of Obermann) and Brandes. Bradford Torrey has a charming out-door paper on Bird-Gazing in the White Mountains. A Cook's Tourist in Spain contributes the first of two papers of travel. The Growth and Decline of Chile describes succinctly the growth and melancholy phase of the South American Yankee State. A. F. Matthews writes of Orioles and How they sing. Rung Where opens by Mr. Aldrich and Eliot C. Tow. Full chapter of reviews of new books, and seven brief essays in the Contributors' Club. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

WIDE AWAKE. W. T. Smedley, whose brilliant paintings have attracted so much attention at the art exhibitions, has furnished the July Wide Awake with a frontispiece that is like a hunting in its quality and value. It illustrates a beautiful poem by Maria R. Dudley, entitled Grandma's Picture After This, the 5 Young Folks, whose taste for historical literature and for reality has been cultivated by the sharp little stories and true stories given in Wide Awake, will turn to the Washington's English Home, which gives a picture of the old town and old home in which lived the ancestors of George Washington. The articles written by a daughter of Canon Kingsley, was illustrated last summer by Garrett and Hassam. The month is still further celebrated by a brief but spirited article by Arthur E. Bradley, describing An Argentine Independence Day. The opening story of the number, also, has a certain historic value, describing, as it does, some of the higginsfolks resorted to by Southern families in the days of the Confederacy. My Suit of Homespun, by Jennie S. Judson, and Is a Record of the author's own experience. A story, dealing with old-fashioned Crowfoot Slide, by Frances A. Humphreys and another record of Indian Interpretation, by Mrs. Dodge, is delightfully written by one who witnessed the pearling of Longfellow's last in Westminster Abbey. Other articles of interest are The Mad Cap, Romance in the Suppression of Books, Diary of the last European, who rode through the desert from Berber to Sinkat, Cleve in Mediæval Song, and The Magic. There are several entertaining short papers, and the whole make-up of the number shows excellent taste and knowledge of the public wants. As this number begins a new volume, it offers a favorable time for new subscriptions. Published by E. H. Pelton, 25 Bond Street, New York. Terms, $3 per year; Single numbers, 25 cents, trial subscription for 3 months, 90.

The attention of careful investors is called to the

PREFERRED STOCK

OF THE

of which the directors offer

10,000 SHARES AT PAR,

$10 per Share.

Having a positive history of less than a year and a half, the company has established electric lighting stations for city and commercial lighting in Boston, Lowell, Worcester, Fitchburg, East Boston, Revere Beach and Cottage City, Mass.; Providence, R. I.; Hartford, Conn.; Portland, Old Orchard, and Lewiston, Me.; Montreal, Quebec, Ottawa, Brockville, and St. John, Canada, all of which are in successful operation, or in course of construction, showing the entire business of the company to be of a most successful character. The Thomson-Houston system is universally acknowledged as giving the best light, the least liability to accident, and the most economical power.

During this time the company has paid its regular semi-annual dividends of 4 per cent., and two extra 2 per cent. semi-annual dividends, making it at the present time a sound 12 per cent. investment stock.

These results have been accomplished under unfavorable circumstances in a circumscribed field with a small working cash capital, considering the extent and magnitude of the business carried on, and in the face of strong competition, influences against the Company from those largely interested in gas, which have not been entirely overcome.

Recently the Company has secured control of a widely interested system of territory, embracing many large manufacturing towns and cities in the Connecticut River, and offering a field for the profitable application of the Company's apparatus, which will have been introduced at far more favorable figures than ever before.

The arrangements now guaranteed by the banks are as large as those paid hitherto, and additional capital is required to carry the work in the new territory to the best advantage. The directors have decided to issue

$100,000 of the Preferred Treasury Stock.

This Stock will be Sold at Par, $10 per Share, in lots to suit purchasers.

Payment may be made at once, or if preferred, by instalments as follows:

One-fourth Cash.
One-fourth in One Month.
One-fourth in Two Months.
One-fourth in Three Months from date of subscription.

The Construction of Central Lighting Stations for City and Commercial Lighting, and Isolated Plants, will also be carried on by this Company, exclusively, and the large experience and splendid facilities it can build and supply Central Lighting Stations, complete with Engines, Boilers, Dynamos, Machinery, Lamps, Wire, Structures, and in fact furnish every part of the material, quicker and cheaper than any other company in the United States.

Investors desiring a safe and highly profitable security are invited to invest in the Preferred Stock of this Company.

For further information, please call at the Company's Office, or address,

EDWARD H. GOFF, President.

P. S.—Subscriptions to the new stock can be sent direct to the Company's Office, or through any of the following leading and banking houses, viz.:
